Jon Arizal was appointed as the Vice Chairman of the Batam Indonesia Free Zone Authority (BIFZA) by the Governor of the Riau Islands Province, Indonesia to manage Batam as a Free Trade Zone area according to Laws No. 44 year 2007.

Previously, Arizal started his civil career in BIFZA as the Head of Subdirectorates for Industry since 1993 to 2004 and he was promoted as the Head Bureau for Public Relations and Marketing until 2005. Due to his leadership and management skills, he was appointed as the Head Office for Industry and Trade in the Riau Islands Province until 2010 and as the Head of Regional Investment Coordinating Board as well as the Secretary of Regional Council for Free Trade Zone of Batam, Bintan and Karimun until 2014.

Jon Arizal received his Master Degree in Law from the prestigious Gajah Mada University in Jogjakarta in 2008. Due to his extensive experience, he has been requested to speak at many national and international seminars and conferences. With his leadership, Batam has gained the trust and support from both the general public and private sectors, certainly keeping a balance for the economic and community development.

Michael Lopez Rama, born October 28, 1954 is the 9th child of Natividad Lopez and Fernando Rama. Their family is very well known to be deeply-rooted in the political arena, beginning from his grandfather, the late Don Vicente Rama, whom he refers as “the old man”, was a former Cebu City councilor, mayor, congressman, and eventually a senator, is known as the Father of the Cebu City Charter.

Mike Rama learned the value of hard work from his parents who were both disciplinarian and hardworking. He grew up helping his parents in their family business. He lived a simple life and is always proud to tell everyone of his humble beginnings which include selling eggs produced from their family owned poultry business.

Graduated valedictorian during his elementary and high school.

Finished Pre-Med course from Velez College in Cebu City in preparation for a Medical Course to pursue his dream of becoming a doctor.

Took up Bachelor of Laws in San Beda College and became a lawyer in 1983.

Got his first employment in 1984 at Cebu Oxygen Acetylene Corporation (COACO) at the Legal Division of the Human Resource Development.

Joined politics in 1992 and won as Cebu City councilor (south district).

Became Cebu City’s Vice Mayor in 2001 until 2010.

Elected as Cebu City’s Mayor in 2010 and is now serving his second term of service.

The only Mayor who once held the positions of city councilor and vice mayor, both for three terms. This is a clear indication of the trust and confidence of the people in his leadership, capability and inherent character of an exemplary public servant.
